IECJ® Fall Ethics Case Writing Competition
Call for Real-World Ethics Cases

The IMA Educational Case Journal (IEC®) invites submissions for an ethics case writing competition. Cases must be based on real companies or events any area appropriate for management accounting-related courses but must include an ethical issue.

- The real events should have occurred within the last five years and based on public information or be accompanied by a release from the subject company permitting use of nonpublic information.
- Case studies jointly authored by academics and practitioners are strongly encouraged but not required.
- The case must have been used in the classroom and must be submitted in English. A complete Teaching Note must be submitted concurrently with a case in order for it to be considered in the competition.

Cash prizes for the winning cases will be awarded:
- $1,000 for first place
- $500 for second place
- $300 for third place

The following recent IECJ cases are examples of ethics cases based on real companies or events and can be found on IMA’s website:
- “Ethical Choices at Choice House,” Vol. 10, Issue 3
- “Forge Group Ltd Case Study (B),” Vol. 8, Issue 1
- “Diamond Foods, Inc.,” Vol. 7, Issue 4

Submitting a Case:
- Deadline: October 30, 2018

- All cases should be submitted electronically in Microsoft Word to iecj@imanet.org. Please make the subject line: “Ethics Case Competition.” Winners will be announced by December 31.

- Cases submitted to the competition will concurrently be reviewed for publication in IECJ, and authors submitting a case agree to its publication in IECJ if accepted by the journal.

Questions regarding the case competition or the IMA Educational Case Journal can be sent to Kip Krumwiede, IECJ Production Editor, at kkrumwiede@imanet.org.
